

ABSTRACT

This research aimed to investigate whether there are still many obstacles for women's career (glass ceiling) or just a myth for today. This research used qualitative with case study approach and object in this research are two offices in the government sector and three offices in the non government sector. Samples were taken in this research were six women. One top manager, four middle managers and one low manager.

The results from this research showed that there is balancing between career and family. So it doesn't become an obstacle for women. In addition, there isn't gender discrimination and also masculine culture in the workplace. Beside that, this research also showed that women tend to have positive characters in work and now for the level of education and experience of women aren't become a problem for women. So, conclusion in this research shows that glass ceiling is just a myth for women's career.

Keywords: Glass Ceiling, Women's Career, Qualitative Research, Case Study, Glass Ceiling Is Just A Myth For Women's Career.