

ABSTRACT

This thesis is entitled Model of Transformation of Islamic Boarding Schools in Curriculum Development Viewed from Local Religiosity Towards Global Ideality at the Raudloh Al Thohiriyah Kajen Pati Islamic Boarding School. In the case of educational transformation in curriculum development, based on the description in this thesis, the issues to be examined are: 1) . What is the Educational Transformation Model of Islamic Boarding School Raudloh Al Thohiriyah Kajen Pati. 2) How is the implementation of the Curriculum Development of the Raudloh Al Thohiriyah Islamic Boarding School Kajen Pati Viewed from Local Religiosity Towards Global Ideality.

The method of collecting data in this thesis in this study will later use a qualitative research methodology with a participatory approach through multilevel stages, so this data analysis technique uses analysis (triangulation) which is described as triangulation analysis. . in this research is descriptive analytical. The results of this study conclude that 1) Transformation of the educational curriculum has a very important role and use, because this curriculum transformation directs all educational activities carried out by an institution. 2) The main factor inhibiting educational transformation is the conservative view. The meaning is that the current situation is the best and does not need to be changed. This view is still held by some Islamic boarding school caretakers, resulting in setbacks. 3) Development of curriculum materials to improve the quality of education at the Raudloh Al Thohiriyah (Al Mardliyah) Islamic Boarding School of Kajen Pati comes from the curriculum components and learning completeness, curriculum content, local content, self-development, life skills education, study load regulation. 4). The global era is also the era of communication and information where one can easily access information quickly and completely and communicate with anyone, anywhere and anytime with highly advanced technological equipment.
