

ABSTRACT

Logistics so far is the science which should be able to special attention. Because good logistics will support a business performance of the effectiveness and efficiency.

This study aims to analyze the influence of suppliers logistics performance to business performance , case studies at AHASS workshop in Semarang. Suppliers Logistics performance in this research represented by transportation , distribution center location , and inventory variable.

the results of the analysis shows that the transportation and inventory have a positive and significant influence to business performance. While the distribution center location have not significant influence to business performance.

Keywords: Logistics, Transportation, Distribution center location, Inventory , Business Performance.