

ABSTRACT

Part-time job is a phenomenon that growing in Indonesia, especially for college student. Many students choose part time job for various reasons. However while having part time jobs, college life's of students will affected and also their academic achievement. This research aims to analyze the influence time management, study motivation, self actualization to student's academic achievement who have part time job.

The data in this research was collected through questionnaire distributed to 89 respondents, which are undergraduate students from Management Bachelor Degree in Diponegoro University. The techniques to testing data is multiple linear regression analysis.

Results indicates that time management, study motivation, and self actualization give positive influence to academic achievement of undergraduate students in Management Bachelor Degree in Diponegoro University who have part time job. Those variables also give 67% contribution to the variety of student's academic achievement who have part time job.

Keywords : Time management, study motivation, self actualization, part time job, academic achievement