

ABSTRACT

This research aim to know intellectual capital performance and the impact of ownership structure, profitability and company risk on intellectual capital performance. Ownership structure that use in this research is family ownership, managerial ownership and institutional ownership. This paper also check about profitability and company risk and they impact to intellectual capital performance.

Population that use in this research is 402 listed banking company in Indonesian Stock Exchange year 2007-2009. Based on purposive sampling method, there are 60 sample. This research used multiple regression that accompany with classic assumption test which contain Normality test, Multikolinearity test, Autokorelasi test, and Heteroskedastisitas test. And used the partial test to know each independent variable have significant effect to intellectual capital performance and the simultaneous test used to know each independent variable together have significant effect to intellectual capital. Data analysis by SPSS 17 with significant level 5%.

The result show that family ownership and managerial ownership did not have significant influence to intellectual capital performance and institutional, profitability and company risk have significant positive influence to intellectual capital performance.

Keyword: intellectual capital performance, ownership structure, profitability, company risk.